

Choosing between a sleeping bag and a nursing blanket?

A sleeping bag and a nursing blanket are both very humane solutions to slightly restrict a person's freedom of movement in order to protect them. The choice between the two depends on the person's nature and the extent to which the freedom should be limited.

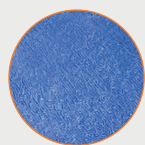

A nursing blanket or fixation blanket is the ideal solution to immobilise (restless) people humanely without the use of belts or straps and to give them as much freedom of movement and protection as possible. In this way the person can still change position, but will not become uncovered, fall out of bed or pull incontinence material to pieces.

Versions

Stretch

Only available for sleeping bag or nursing blanket. Suitable for tranquil patients.

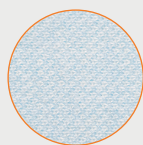

- Composition
 - 85% cotton
 - 15% polyester
- 280 g/m²

TR & FR (tear resist & fire resist)

Available for sleeping bags, nursing blankets and 2-part nursing blanket. Suitable for tranquil patients.

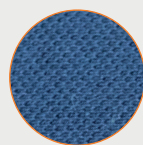

- Composition
 - 34,5% cotton
 - 31% polyester
 - 22,5% modacryl
 - 12% viscose
- 280 g/m²
- Tear resistance 410 N
- Fire resistance BS EN 1021-1 & BS EN 1021-2

TR & FR plus

Available for sleeping bags, nursing blankets and 2-part nursing blanket. Suitable for very restless patients.

- Composition
 - 54% modacryl
 - 45% polyester
 - 2% AT
- 215 g/m²
- Tear resistance 285 N
- Fire resistance EN 11612

Please visit our website for more information

www.ficobelgium.eu

This is developed with the support of
FLANDERS INVESTMENT & TRADE  CE